

Colin A. Hope & Gillian E. Bowen (edd.), assisted by Bruce E. Parr, Kellis. A Roman-Period Village in Egypt's Dakhleh Oasis.

Cambridge, Cambridge University Press, 2021, xxxiv-480 pp., figg. ISBN 978-0-521-19032-9. £105.

Introduction: 1. Kellis in context [C.A.H.]. - The domestic environment: 2. Houses, households, household activities [C.A.H. & G.E.B.]; - 3. Paintings from domestic contexts [Helen Whitehouse]; - 4. Crafts [C.A.H.]: 4.1. Basketry, cordage and leatherwork [G.E.B.]; - 4.2. Ceramics [C.A.H.]; - 4.3. Glass [Marie-Dominique Nenna]; 4.4. Textiles [Rosanne Livingstone]. - Aspects of life at Kellis: 5. Society and social structure [Roger S. Bagnall]; - 6. The economy: 6.1. Local economy [R.S.B.]; - 6.2. Plant husbandry and local subsistence [Ursula Thanheiser]; - 6.3. Coinage [G.E.B.]; - 7. The administration of Kellis and Dakhleh Oasis [Andrew Connor]; - 8. Literacy [A.C.]: 8.1. Greek [A.C.]; - 8.2. Coptic [Iain Gardner]; - 8.3. Demotic [Günter Vittmann]; - 8.4. Hieroglyphic Egyptian [Olaf E. Kaper]; - 8.5. Latin [A.C.]; - 8.6. Writing materials [C.A.H.]. - The religious context: 9. The pharaonic and classical religious complexes and the cult of Tutu [C.A.H., G.E.B. & O.E.K.]; - 10. Painted decoration in the main temple complex [H.W.]; - 11. The churches [G.E.B.]; - 12. Types of Christianity: history and spread, organisation, practices and literature [I.G.]. - Burial practices and population: 13. The traditional cemeteries of Kellis [C.A.H., Judith McKenzie & Carlo Rindi Nuzzolo]; - 14. Christian burial practices [G.E.B.]; - 15. Revealing life through death: a review of the bioarcheological studies of human remains [Tosha L. Dupras, Sandra M. Wheeler, Lana J. Williams & Peter G. Sheldrick]. - Concluding remarks: 16. The abandonment of Kellis [C.A.H. & G.E.B.]. - Appendix: Some Kellis texts in translation. - Bibliography. Indices.

C.R. par Robert J. Littman, BMCRev < <https://bmcr.brynmawr.edu/2022/2022.10.23> >. - Mattias Brand, BibO 80 (2023) coll. 36-48.

2021-0435