

241 Alexandrie

Miguel John Versluys, More than the sum of its parts: Hellenistic-Roman Alexandria, global networks and the question of innovation.

Hélène Fragaki, Marie-Dominique Nenna & Miguel John Versluys (edd.), Alexandria the cosmopolis. A global perspective = Études alexandrines. 56 (Alexandrie, 2022) pp. 5-32.

Alexandria the cosmopolis: in search of global perspective. - Global knowledge and ambition. - Beyond the Greco- or Romano-Egyptian 'hybrid'. - Scaling up: ointments, animals and objects. - More than the sum of its parts: invention, innovation and impact. - Alexandrianism as networkpower. - Networkpower and the mega-city. - Drawing things together in the global objectscape. - Conclusion: drawing things together.

2022-0693