Francesco Serratì, "The Yellow Scale". Retrieving the Yellow Range via the Documentary Papyrology.

SEP 20 (2023) pp. 143-159.

Aims to analyse thoroughly the Greek adjectives employed to define the various yellow shades. To do so we will rely on two types of evidence: the first one consists of the contribution of documentary papyri, of which text and translation are provided; the second one is, instead, the Greek literature and, occasionally, the first monographic treaty on artmaking in the Western world, known as Libro dell'Arte and written by Cennino Cennini between 1390 and 1437.
