

141.4 P. Bodl. Ms.Gr.theol. e. 5 (P) + P. Gen. IV, 153; P. Bodl. Ms.Gr.theol. e. 11 (P)

Ágnes T. Mihálykó & Konstantine Panegyres, Two Liturgical Papyri from the Bodleian Library.

ArchPF 70 (2024) pp. 317-370, figg.

Publication of two liturgical papyri from the collection of the Bodleian Library, Oxford. - The first papyrus is a large fragment of a double leaf from a codex of the 5th or 6th century with a notably idiosyncratic early redaction of the anaphora of St. Mark. It belongs to and joins with P.Gen. IV, 153 [= LDAB 128549] (re-edited here). 5th or 6th c. - The second papyrus is a small fragment of a single sheet assignable to perhaps the 5th or 6th century, which preserves an independent intercession in the tradition of the Liturgy of St. Mark with some differences from any other attested versions of this intercession. 5th or 6th c.?

2024-0214